More on Voices

After a summer of fun and fantasy, we return to the intimate and historic Cobblestone theatre with the female-driven drama, Voices, by Susan Griffin.

Voices has been described as ". . . The lives of five women who don't know one another, nor speak to each other. Rather they're telling their life stories to the audience. Each is facing some crisis in life." But it really is so much more than this description, especially given the recent women's movements and politically charged "Year of the Woman" environment in which we live.

Through five women's stories, the audience will hear and experience the universal feminine archetypes as lived generation to generation. Though the women live unique lives and experiences and tell their stores at different ages and from different eras of the 2000 century their voices tell the story of every woman.

Whether you are a woman or have a woman in your life; mother, daughter, sister, lover—this play is for you. The dialogue is witty and moves from amusing to poignant and from painful to inspiring, keeping the stories interesting and relevant. It is the story of life, living and death that we all share.

And never more so than during the winter months when the theatre is dark, but the expenses continue. Theatre maintenance, utilities, and production costs for our 2018 season are all issues which need to be addressed.

Any amount of financial support will be greatly appreciated, and of course, is tax-deductible. Thank you for supporting YOUR Community Theatre!
